How did you meet your mentor

Our team didn't find a mentor. As our start-up is self-sufficient and our team consists of professionals, from the beginning we knew that we would be able to finish the project without any help.

However, we would like to make some recommendations to other teams:

1. Recruit a mentor if your team came to a full and can't find right solution.
2. Don't make your team too large. It would be very difficult to organize the collaboration if there are too many members.
3. The mentor's advices may not bring you to the success. Be aware of his goals and personal motives.
4. Invite only those mentors who are interested in your project at 100%.
5. Be opened to the opinions of other members of your team. The decisions should be made in common.

How many individuals did you approach before you found a mentor?
